First Aid CPR/AED Agreement

AMERIND's Safety Team will be pleased to offer First Aid, CPR/AED training providing you agree to the following:

1. AMERIND Safety Services personnel have certified through the National Safety Council (NSC) to provide basic First Aid CPR/AED training. As NSC trainers, we have requirements that must be met in order to certify people taking the First Aid CPR/AED training. The trainer must follow NSC training curriculum, the class size is limited to 15 people per instructor, the training is 'hands-on' and participants are expected to fully participate and practice the required training. It is the instructor's decision to pass or fail participants based on their participation in the class. Within four (4) weeks, AMERIND will mail the certificates to the primary contact who will then distribute to the participants who passed the training.
2. Cost of training. For members and participants: The first approved training will be provided free of cost. If AMERIND has to mail replacement certificates due to error or loss, there will be a $10 fee per replacement certificate. If the member requests recertification training within 2 years of the initial training, then a $25 fee per participant and minimum of 15 people will be the cost for additional training.
3. Cost of training. For non-members: The non-member agrees to pay a $50 per participant. If AMERIND has to mail replacement certificates due to error or loss, there will be a $10 fee per replacement certificate.
4. The contact must sign and return this form to AMERIND Safety Services prior to the date of training to acknowledge agreement.
